Pertinent Paragraphs

In spite of the fact that this is the coldest February ever recorded in California we still have much to be thankful for, according to reports from the east. While eastern and middlewestern states are buried in snow, suffering 20 to 20 degrees below zero and enjoying poor train service, we of this section of California have had nippy mornings and evenings with the major part of the day bordering on perfection.

There are those who believe that the California climate is going to the dogs merely because they can recollect a time when winters were even less severe than they have been of recent years. Their growls and predictions, however, should not be taken seriously ,because "weather" travels in cycles too great to be encompassed by the years of a man's life. The climate of 200 years ago might parallell that of today and 100 years hence inhabitants of this state may enjoy winters even more balmy than any hitherto recorded.

The engagement of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh to Miss Anne Morrow has been announced. It is said that the "flying colonel" will be less in the air after his marriage because of the fact that his bride will object to his long and hazardous flights. Possibly—but it is our opinion that Mr. Lindbergh would not have given his heart to a girl who was jealous of his first love.

We have frequently observed in Campbell the practice of double parking—and this condition is particularly noticeable at tween the hours of 5 and 6 o'clock p. m. While the main street is of generous width it is not wide enough for motorists to indulge in the dangerous business of double parking—not so dangerous to themselves as to other people. We are under the impression that a county ordinance governs the abovementioned situation and it might be advisable to acquaint ourselves with the law and observe it.

The evening of Feb. 22 will mark the time set for the Campbell volunteer firemen's show, staged as the night entertainment on the occasion of the annual Old Settlers' Day, for the purpose of raising funds for new equipment for the department. Aside from the fact that patrons are assured an excellent show, it is the duty of every citizen to purchase a ticket for the performance. This is the only occasion upon which the fire boys ask for support, and they certainly are deserving of the support of every man, woman and child in the community. Do not, however, consider the purchase price of your ticket as a contribution, for the boys are the audience will get value received for its money.

That's all.

Chamber Of Commerce Elects Officers

The regular session of the Campbell chamber of commerce was called to order by President H. C. Smith Monday evening at the community hall.

A new set of by-laws naming the elective offices and forming a board of directors was adopted after the second reading.

The elective offices were filled by choosing Dr. W. I. Merrill as president and Mrs. C. H. Whitman as secretary. The newly elected members of the board of directors are G. E. Farley, R. G. Archibald, H. M. Shadle, P. H. Dunlap and C. H. Whitman.

D. H. Cramer, chairman of the program committee for Old Settlers' Day reported program well arranged to make the day a successful affair.

Chairman of the publicity committee reported several features of the occasion already published and others to follow.

The usual afternoon sports will be staged at the school diamond and gymnasium.

During the day a register will be in charge of a committee and distinctive badges will be given the older residents, colors indicating the period of arrival in this state.

Alumni Plans To Entertain Class Of 1929

A call has gone out t oalumni of the Campbell high schoo for a get-together for the purpose of reviving alumni enthusiasm and to arrange, if possible, for a banquet to be tendered the class of 1929, together with the faculty.

The meeting, called for Monday evening, Feb. 13 at 6:30 o'clock p. m., is to be a dinner affair at the Commercial club. This general committee will form the nucleus for the various sub-committees and incidentally help to further interest in the affair.

Graham Peake is in charge of reservations so any alumni who plan to attend should communicate with him at his office in the Bank of Italy building, San Jose.

WOMEN HEAR DR. SHEPARD ON SCIENTIFIC HEROES

Dr. John Hunt Shepard gave a highly instructive and entertaining talk to the Country Woman's club on "The Heroes of Science," said heroes being of the medical world at the regular meeting of the club last week.

Three hundred years spells the real history of medicine, while recorded history dates back to 6000 B. C. The first recorded dissection of the human body was in the fourteenth century by an Italian. Dr. Shepard advocates compulsory autopsies and publications of findings as a benefit to the race.

The science of physics and chemistry have been of invaluable aid in the advancement of medics by the production of the microscope and the knowledge of drugs and their uses, according to Dr. Shepard. Other interesting things he discussed were the use of anesthetics, the discovery of microorganisms and the consequent development of antiseptic surgery and the growth in the production of preventative serums. The latest of these is the serum for scarlet fever which the Drs. Dick have practically perfected and which is expected to be in general use soon. Other diseases which are practically under control are small pox and diphtheria and could be entirely eliminated if vaccinations were compulsory the world over, said Dr. Shepard.

There was much more of interest in the doctor's address which was greatly enjoyed by the club members and a number of visitors.

Mrs. W. I. Merrill was chairman of the program committee and was assisted by Mrs. W. H. Crothers. The room was decorated most attractively with acacia and narcissus and a bowl of beautiful camelias.

'Pinafore' Sung For Kiwanians

A real task of the operetta to be given by the school in March was furnished by a girls' chorus under the able direction of Marian Jenkins Howes before the Kiwanis club Tuesday. H. M. S. Pinafore" is the piece chosen for the spring performance and already the chorus showes the effects of its drill by Mrs. Howes.

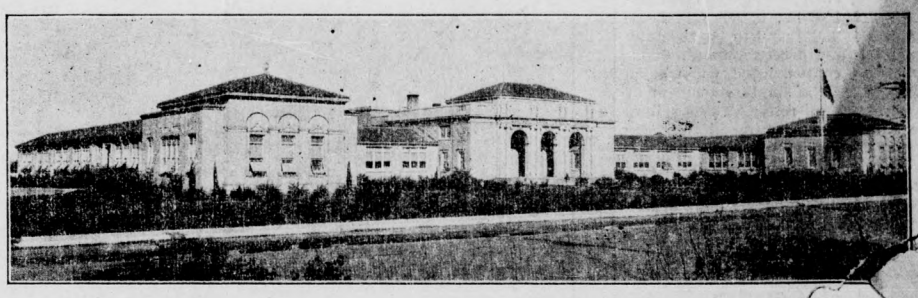
A very high compliment was paid the accompanist, Veva Nichols, who plays the entire score. The singers present were Nadine Gruwell, Virginia Harris, Anna Rifisi, Dorothy Todd, Julia Ruscigno, Annette Merrill, Louise Freitas, Aletha Carson, Pauline Guida, Lola De Denti and Dorothy Burton. Elmer Sundquis of the orchestra rendered two very pretty slide trombone solos.

D. H. Cramer and Ira Abbott were chairman and assistant and between their cross-fire some of the boys were surely nicked.

Raymond J. Fisher, principal of Los Gatos grammar school, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on some personal incidents in the life of Lincoln. Some of his character sketches of that greatest of all commoners, showed his deep insight into the mind of the masses of his countrymen.

E. Russell Kennedy and 'Lucy' Beall will combine their wits to them pay for it next week. Mr. entertain the boys and make Alonzo Baker, editor of Signs Of The Times, of Mountain View will speak on the Kellogg peace pact.

Where The Crowds Will Gather Next Friday



Meet For Talk On Local High SchoolS'tuation

Residents of the Campbell union high school district are planning to meet for a discussion of the immediate need of a new high school building. The P .T. A. of the high school has taken the initiative in this movement.

Mrs. S. N. Hedegard, president, has appointed the following committee to work with the high school board to promote plans for the new building: S. N. Hedegard, C. H. Whitman, Lloyd Gardner, Dr .W. I. Merrill, R. E. Stubbe, F. L. Howes, Harry Barnes and Neil Best.

The committee feels that the crowded condition of the present frame structure presents a grave problem demanding immediate solution.

The meeting is slated for Friday evening, Feb. 15 at 6:30 in the grammar school cafeteria where a free dinner will be served the invited guests. All those interested are cordially invited to the business session that will be held at 7:30.

Rehearsals Of Firemen's Show Indicates Wow

Show fans of Campbell will have an opportunity next Friday night, Feb. 22, to see a performance of merit staged by the local fire company in the grammar school auditorium.

Starting with a two-reel comedy and a good feature picture, the show will conclude with nine acts of really high class vaudeville, including several numbers by local talent.

A red hot band has been engaged for the show and rehearsals indicate better than two hours of smoothly rolling entertainment.

Scenery for the stage is being prepared by Tony Ferrol; Ed Genasci is stage electrician, while Harry White manages the stage.

Reported to be an especially hot number is the skit entitled "The Fire Boys are the Goats," featuring Phil La Barbara and Al Covey.

BUS, DODGE SEDAN, TANGLE AT BRIDGE

Campbell avenue directly west of the Dry creek bridge was the scene Tuesday evening of a collision between an incoming stage and a Dodge sedan driven by a man whose name we were unable to learn.

The driver of the Dodge attempted to pass the bus as the latter was crossing the bridge. He got his car almost past the stage when the approach of a third car, going in the opposite direction, forced him to swerve the machine, at an angle, directly in the path of the stage. In the ensuing crash no one was injured but the sedan and the bus finally came to rest on the Interurban tracks, with the Dodge headed towards San Jose. State Secrets Hidden by Absorbent Roller

Every foreign office in Europe acts on the theory that an army of spies is constantly on the alert to steal its secrets, and infinite precautions are taken to baffle their efforts. Very shortly after the first use of blotting paper it was discovered that it was quite possible to cause a blotting pad to give up secrets by simply holding it in front of a mirror. Long after all the commercial world had forgotten the existence of such a thing, the British foreign office used a sandshaker to dry its important written documents, of which there are still many despite the use of the typewriting machine. Then specially manufactured black blotting paper was used but this was not found to be absolutely spyproof and a return to the sand shaker was contemplated when some one suggested the simple expedient of a small absorbent roller. These rollers have since been used for drying diplomatic documents. When such a roller has been run up and down and across a document once or twice, the cleverest spy in the world is at liberty to try his hand at deciphering the impressions.

Farmers of Country Owe Much to "Dream"

Wisconsin farmers have erected a granite monument to the memory of John F. Appleby, who was known throughout the Mid-West a generation ago as an expert whittler in wood. He helped farmers throughout the world by inventing the first machine to tie sheaves of grain automatically.

According to Farm and Fireside. Appleby was eighteen years old when he whittled his way to fame by his invention. He had grown tired from bending to bind grain by hand in a Wisconsin harvest field, and so he spent an evening "dreaming" of a machine which would do this work. He whittled out a model of his invention, which he perfected in 1858. It is still almost identical with the design used all over the world on grain binders today.

Tent Within a Tent

"Several winters ago I became acquainted with a method of winter camping which I believe was, and is, just about as ingenious as one would expect to meet with in many a moon," writes Robert Page Lincoln in Forest and Stream. "A trapper showed me the trick. It involved the use of two wall tents. The one tent as I remember it, was nine by eleven while the other was twelve by fourteen. The smaller tent was erected inside of the larger tent. A good job had been done of pegging down and stretching both of these tents. The result was that the outer tent was a windbreak par excellence and that even in the coldest winter weather the inside was well protected, the camp stove, a box [illegible] keeping an even temperature within."

Too Exacting

One day a fashionably dressed man entered Howell's music store in Bristol and asked to see some piano music. Howell put before him the latest sonatas, just published. The stranger looked at them, then said:

"I do not care for these, I do not like them, show me something better."

"Something better?" Howell exclaimed rather impatiently. "There is nothing better! I am sorry not to be able to serve you. Good day, sir."

The stranger smilingly replied: "I have written these myself. I am Haydn."

At which Howell fell on his neck overjoyed to make the acquaintance of the great composer. They became fast friends.—Kansas City Star.

Reindeer Swept Away

The Lap tribes in the northernmost part of Norway recently suffered the almost irreparable loss of 50 per cent of their reindeer. As is customary, more than 2,000 head of reindeer had gone to their feeding ground on Mageroe island. The only way of transporting this great herd is to make the reindeer swim across the narrow strait separating the island from the mainland. While the herd was recently being driven back by the same route, more than 1,000 reindeer were caught in the swift current of the strait and were carried out to sea where they drowned.

Disillusioned

I always thought Jenkins was rather bright.

He made a radio set out of some hay wire and a few spark plugs.

He could catch trout with some binder's twine, some remnant cheese and a hairpin.

By sniffing at an exhaust pipe he knew which cylinder was missing.

I always thought he was rather clever.

But this morning he called in a repair man to change the ribbon on his typewriter.—Boston Globe.

Had Faith in Perfumes

Sages and lawgivers, Solon, Lycurgus, Socrates, railed in vain against the extravagant use of perfume. The perfume shop became so important a rendezvous of the smart world that men said, "Let's go to the perfumers," as they would say, "Let's have a bite." Each essence had its particular significance and special power. The scent of the crushed vine leaves brought clear thinking; that of white violets aided digestion, they believed.

Fremonters. From the very first which occurred in the first minute of play, the came was in the hand sof the Campbell quint.

The 130 pound team was badly weakened by the absence of Leland Lea, its star forward. With his help the team would undoubtedly have played a much stronger game and probably would have carried off high score. As it was the 19-14 score in Fremont's favor was significant of a battle royal. The 130's have lost two games this year but are still in the race for the Santa Clara County Athletic league, for each of the other teams has also lost twice.

A game with Mountain View is scheduled for next week.

England's Oldest House

Minster abbey, in the isle of Thanet, is said to be the oldest house in England. It is in the market by order of the trustees of the late Lord Conynham, the fifth marquis. It is said to be a fine example of an Eleventh century Norman manor house, renovated about 1413, the house being built on the site of Edburga's monastery of Saints Peter and Paul, founded early in the Eighth century and destroyed in the Ninth by the Danes. The building is specifically described in Domesday book as Thanet manor, and is said to have been the only manor in the island in Saxon times.

Diet, which is one of the favorite obsessions in these days of discontent, has given us many a laugh at the expense of the calorie hounds, but one cannot help feeling a wee bit sorry for the lad who wrote to the Times medical department the other day. He said:

Not So Much Interest

I have observed in reading that it is frequently said of the hero that he "knows books," and is able to talk about them. This being admitted, it is at once concluded he is a man of education and character, and worthy of all confidence. The most interesting people I know do not talk much about books, or mention them; I have never been in a bookish atmosphere except when occasionally in company with publishers or writers.—E. BACK IN THE GAY NINETIES

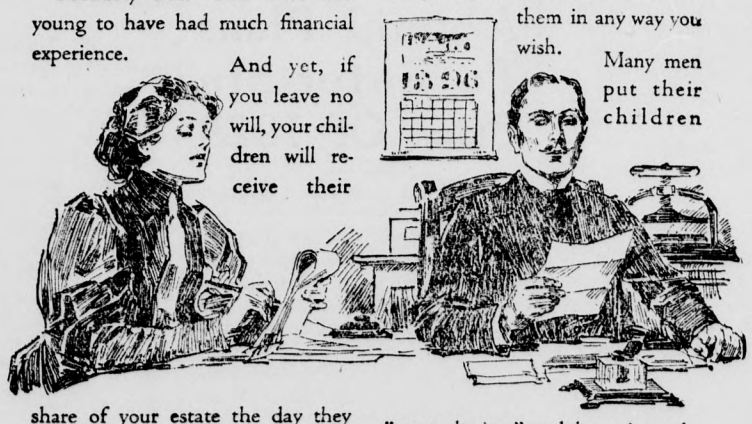
REMEMBER when you were 21? . . . Would you say that you were the world's best manager of money? Would you say that you were even fair?

Probably not. You were too young to have had much financial experience.



And yet, if you leave no will, your children will receive their share of your estate the day they become of age.

Even if you leave a will, without special provisions, they will still receive their share when they become what the law calls "of age."

It is quite simple to avoid this situation and protect your children by leaving your money in trust. The principal will be carefully invested by us as trustee, and the income paid to your boys and girls until they reach, say, age 30 or 35. Then the principal can be turned over to them in any way you wish.

Many men put their children "on probation," and leave it to the trustee to decide when they have earned the right to take over for themselves the management of the principal.

This may be a thought that you would like to follow up. Ask us about it the next time you come in.

Grange Notes

Professor Macklin of the Wisconsin Agricultural college gave a splendid talk on "Co-operation" before the Orchard City Grange Tuesday evening. He spoke of two types of co-operative organizations—those who attempt to obtain a monopoly of the produce handled and those who depend entirely on the superior quality of their output to get and hold the market. The former type, he said, had always failed in the long run, while the latter were gaining ground every year. He pointed to hundreds of co-operative creameries and cheese factories in the middle west that were successful examples o fthe latter class. He had studied the workings of co-operative distributing associations on the Pacific coast and seemed to be well informed in regard to their methods and their results. The professor showe da good deal of earnestness in the work and full faith in co-operation when properly worked out. The address was listened to with marked attention by a large audience.

Mr. Whipple, master of Mc Arthur Grange in the northern part of the state was present and gave an interesting talk on the co-operative movement among the cattle and dairy interests of that part of the state. Three other members of the McArthur Grange were present and one from Fall River.

Mr. Cook gave a forceful talk on how to build a grange hall and a committee was appointed to work with him on the matter.

There will be a grange card party Saturday evening at the community hall. Good prizes and refreshments promised.

Sunday school opens at 9:45. The opening service will be patriotic. The lesson topic for all grades is "Prayer."

Congregational Church

Next Sunday at the Congregational church will be of interest to everybody. At 11 a. m. the I.O.O.F. and the Campbell fire department will attend the service. The Rev. J. H. Bennett will preach on the subject of "Shall It Be Peace." Special music will be rendered by the church choir.

At 6:30 p. m. the younger people will meet to discuss the topic "Do We Need a Special Revelation from God?"

At 7:30 p. m. "The Two Travelers" will be given by special players chosen and trained by Mrs. Theo Cutting. Miss Elsie Merrill will render special Russian music. The Offertory will be for the younger folks' work on behalf of the missionary budget of the church. Everybody is invited to attend.

The fortnightly fellowship supper which was held Wednesday in honor of the second anniversary of the settlement here of Mr. Bennett was a great success. As on former occasions 115 people sat down to that wonderful 35 cent dinner. The talk by Dr. W. J. Minchin was very helpful and the musical items much enjoyed.

Mr. Bennett was honored last week when the Ad club of San Jose elected him for their chaplain.

Young Financier

Don't dismiss this as a made-up story, for it happens to be based upon an actual happening.

A boy in a town not far away called at a store to say he had come to pay a bill owed by his father. "No hurry about it," said the merchant. "I will send him a statement."

The boy insisted he was there to settle the account, so it was figured up and the money paid.

"Now give me the 2 cents it would have cost you to mail the bill," suggested the lad, who would seem to have in him the making of a shrewd financier. He got the 2 cents and went away satisfied.—Brockton (Mass.) Enterprise.

East Indian Dish

Mulligatawny is a highly seasoned, thick, East-Indian-type soup, of which curry powder is the essential characteristic ingredient. Meats, vegetables, mango, chutney, coconut flesh, rice, cayenne pepper, etc., are variously employed and blended to suit the ideas of the cook or canner. The title is derived from two native words signifying "pepper water."

Bodily Strength Not of Importance Today

The body of man is not what it used to be. The big-boned, muscular, prognathic, hairy, stupid ape man has given way to the smooth-skinned, bald, slightly corpulent, spindly legged and thin-armed mental dynamo.

For the sharp-nosed, keen-eared savage with quick vision, sensitive touch, and rapid response, substitute the alert brained, heavily bespectacled, false-toothed director behind a desk.

From his sanctum lead the tentacles of electric transmission and intensification of voice bidding to action. For weakened vision modern man prescribes telescopes, periscopes and microscopes as well as optical lenses. For the ears there are radio tubes, microphones and audition devices. For the sense of touch are provided calipers and other instruments of measurement more fine than the fingers of Jimmy Valentine.

And though the sense of smell is not aided mechanically, the smells themselves are intensified to the point where they are obnoxious and overpowering. One wonders, indeed, how men tolerate now the oily, irritating, suffocating vapors resulting from the combinations of thousands of motor car exhausts and the evaporation of the covering of oiled roads.

Muscles—except those of the heart and internal organs—are a well-nigh unnecessary attribute for modern man; the power of the machines makes brute strength merely a matter for exhibition and dramatic show.—Morris Fishbein in the Yale Review.

Family Keeps Sword of Patriot Ancestor

The great two-handed sword with which Robert the Bruce fought at Bannockburn has been handed down from generation to generation of the Bruce family who possessed Clackmannan tower. The last survivor of this branch was Mrs. Catherine Bruce, a lady of remarkable character and strong Jacobite convictions, who was convinced that her possession of the royal sword of Scotland gave her the prerogative of conferring the honor of knighthood. She thus honored many visitors to Clackmannan tower, among them Bobbie Burns, who visited her when she was a nonagenarian. As Burns rose to his feet he gallantly kissed the old lady's hand. "What ails thee at my lips, Robin?" the ancient dame is said to have asked.

Birdhouse in Prison

Sing Sing prison has so many tamed birds that an imprisoned architect is now supervising the construction of a circular birdhouse of stucco and wood to care for 100 pets. The birds belong to the institution and there are a good many singers and handsome ones among them. There are several parrots. The birdhouse is nearly forty feet in diameter and provision will be made to accommodate 1,000 birds.

Banana a Plant Oddity

The first paradox about the banana is that it is a tree, by virtue of its size and height, without a true trunk says the Nature Magazine. The tallest banana plants measure 40 feet from the tips of the leaves to the ground. In Jamaica they attain about 25 feet, the first 15 feet of which is approximately the remarkable "pseudostem," or false trunk; the remainder the blades of the huges leaves which tower above it.

Action of Explosives

The belief that gunpowder explodes upward and high explosives downward is erroneous. Each explosive tends to act in all directions. However, when powder is placed on a surface it does not actually shatter the object it is in contact with, while dynamite goes off so rapidly that it does shatter the object it is in contact with, and the hole it makes in the earth is greater than that which the powder makes.

"Rain" of Quails

When quails began to fall into the streets of Nimes, the historic town in France, the residents immediately thought of Santa Claus. Some of the birds fell just in front of the principal cafes in the main street, and there was a rush of customers to secure them. The "bag" was reported to be much larger than that obtained by local sportsmen on a day's hunting trip. The birds evidently had fallen from exhaustion after a long flight.

When Quakers Divided

The separation or schism among the Quakers occurred in 1827-28 and was due to several causes. The immediate occasion was the preaching and teaching of Elias Hicks, who promulgated doctrines closely approaching the Unitarian views. More than one-half of the Friends of the Middle states followed Hicks. The two divisions were called the "Orthodox" and the "Hicksite."

Sample of a Big One

Our unmitigated falsehood for the day: We always feel when a motor bus about fifteen feet wide and experiencing more or less engine trouble is just ahead of us in the traffic that it has just as much right to the use of the street as we have.—Ohio State Journal.

Africa Home of the Date

More than 1,000 different kinds of dates are known to the Arabs, but only 10 or 15 have proved commercially valuable in the United States and only four or five are being planted on any considerable scale. More than half the date palms in this country were derived from North Africa.

That's Why It's Utopia

In Utopia pedestrians don't have to jump a distance of more than two feet, if any.—Toledo Blade.

Ocean Levels

The mean level of the Pacific ocean at the isthmus of Panama has been found to be about eight inches higher than the mean level of the Atlantic. In the month of February the mean levels are the same, but throughout the rest of the year, on account of current, tidal and wind influences, the mean level of the Pacific ranges above that of the Atlantic. It is as much as one foot higher in October.

Almond Varieties

Almonds are of two kinds—bitter and sweet. The bitter almond is cultivated to a limited extent in Mediterranean countries, and the nuts are used in the manufacture of flavoring extracts and of prussic acid. The sweet, or edible, almond is grown on a commercial scale in the south of Europe, in California and in some other countries.

Historic Tree

At Diosgyor, Hungary, is a tree, a Turkish hazel, popularly believed to have been planted 550 years ago by Queen Marie (daughter of King Lajos the Great). Experts have examined the tree and establish the fact that its age actually corresponds to the age of the tree recorded to have been planted by this queen.

Valley Lacks Moisture

The climate of Death valley, Calif., is due in a measure to its configuration. It consists of a long, narrow, parallel valley, considerably below sea level. The Panamint mountains shut out from it the moist winds of the Pacific so that in August there is less than one-half of 1 per cent of moisture in the atmosphere.

Gaboriau's Crime Stories

Most of the thrilling crime romances of Gaboriau, the great French producer of detective stories, were written as newspaper fiction. Gaboriau, who died in 1873 at the age of thirty-eight, is said to have been Bismarck's favorite author, says the Gas Logic Magazine.

Cause of Tree Rings

Trees form annual rings by reason of the alternating seasons of rest and growth.

Losses Caused by Colds

England has 80,000,000 colds a year, according to a prominent health officer. He places the annual loss through colds at $100,000,000 every 12 months. His estimate is based on the number of people who have from one to twelve colds a year, and on the fact that the efficiency of these is reduced for at least a week, the usual length of time they are ill even though still able to work to some extent.
